Wildland Fire - Collaboration Across Borders

International Association of Wildland Fire

ONLINE GLOBAL CONFERENCE

APRIL 6-7, 2027

The International Association of Wildland Fire is hosting a unique online conference that runs continuously for 24 hours, passing the baton from region to region around the world. Sessions will follow the sun — moving across continents, time zones, and perspectives — creating a truly global conversation on wildland fire.

All sessions will be recorded and available immediately, so participants can watch, learn, and engage from anywhere, at any time.

Theme: Wildland Fire - Collaboration Across Borders

Why the Theme Matters

Wildland fires know no boundaries. A fire that begins in one jurisdiction can quickly move into another — across provinces, states, and even international borders. Flames don't recognize political lines, and smoke travels far beyond the fireline, affecting communities thousands of kilometers away. Reducing wildfire risk requires collaboration across borders and across sectors:

- Fire and land management
- Government at all levels
- Science and research
- Business, technology, and industry
- Communities — including farmers, Indigenous partners, and homeowners

We all play a role in preparing for, preventing, and reducing the impacts of wildfires. From fuel reduction and preparedness to education and community resilience, working together is essential.

What We'll Explore

This 24-hour event brings together voices from around the world to share:

- Knowledge and experience
- Tools and technology
- Strategies for cooperation
- Approaches to reducing wildfire risk before it occurs

At its heart, this conference is about connection — how we can better share resources, insights, and innovations to meet the challenges of wildland fire in a changing world.

A Global Opportunity

The Virtual Expo Hall will be prominently displayed on the Online Conference Platform. The organizers are committed to ensuring great exposure and traffic for our exhibitors and sponsors by using video teasers, signage around the platform and gamification, and also allowing time for structured networking, video meetings and appointments (matchmaking) with the guests from around the world.

This is an international conference, and we encourage our sponsors and exhibitors to reach out to the global wildland fire community.

Attendance at this Online Conference will reflect the global reach of the International Association of Wildland Fire, with membership across both North and South America, Europe, Africa, Asia, Australia and New Zealand.
