

Situational Awareness Poster

George Solverson and Jim Kautz

Abstract

The How is your Situational Awareness? poster was developed by the Boise National Forest with help from Missoula Technology and Development Center (photography by Jim Kautz) with funding from the Forest Service Region 4 Intermountain Regional Safety Council. Photos of the South Canyon and Cramer Fires were taken shortly after the incidents. The photo of Mann Gulch was taken in August 2004. Print quality copies of the poster in two sizes (36 x 24" and 11 x 8.5" are available for downloading (http://www.nifc.gov/wfstar/hottopics/situational_awareness.htm) as is a power-point presentation for use in fire safety refresher training. Printed copies of the poster will be available for distribution at the 2005 International Wildland Fire Safety Summit.

George Solverson is a Safety Officer with the USDA Forest Service, Boise National Forest, Boise, ID. Jim Kautz is a Photographer/Videographer with the USDA Forest Service, Missoula Technology and Development Center, Missoula, MT. E-mail: gsolverson@fs.fed.us

In: Butler, B.W and Alexander, M.E. Eds. 2005. Eighth International Wildland Firefighter Safety Summit: Human Factors - 10 Years Later; April 26-28, 2005 Missoula, MT. The International Association of Wildland Fire, Hot Springs, SD.